Q.4 Read the passage and answer the questions given below: [15]

Two wings of democracy have a tendency to be arbitrary. If a coterie has been able to win the elections with overwhelming majority it takes the dumb driven cattle — members of the Parliament — under its sway and legislates as it wishes. This, besides the executive controlled by the coterie, the Parliament too serves the interest not of all but those patronized by the ruling party. The two combine themselves to crush the voice of the people and to suffocate the opposition. Democracy becomes sham for the poor and the underdog. The Government loses its ears to listen to the bemoaning of the working women, its eyes to see the cruelty on bonded labour, the plight of the rural poor. It is only law that comes to the rescue of the common man. It is law that comes to the rescue of a Shao Bano. The Parliament brings bills to crush her. Democracy builds its mansion on the will of the people — the public opinion. Law stands a guard to let the journalist raise his voice to form it.

Answer the following questions set on the above passage:

- i) What is the reaction of coterie when it wins with overwhelming majority in a democracy?
- ii) How does thing move in the Parliament with M.Ps. controlled by the coterie?
- iii) In the event of such a Government what is the alternative left to the rural poor and working women?

The wise men of all nations have got together to see if they can find a way of getting rid of war altogether. The first thing wanted is cooperation among all the nations. Cooperation is a big word. It simply means working together. If nations can learn to work together as friends, they will soon find a way of settling their disputes in a friendly way. Instead of being jealous of each other and suspicious and proud of their rights, they must learn to be friendly and reasonable and anxious to help each other. And the second thing that is wanted is the rule of law. Just as the citizens of a country have law and agree to obey those laws, so all nations must agree to the rule of law and feel bound to obey and support them. If all nations work together for the common good of mankind and agree to obey the laws then they will never fight and against each other and there will be no more wars.
