Q.5 Read the passage and answer the following questions:

[05]

Indian television took a drastic turn in the early 2000s. the thrust of TV serials at that time was on the complexities between women in the domestic zone. While many critics find the portrayal ridiculous, the shows still are enjoyed by many. This is certainly a matter of curiosity. It can probably be understood from the perspective of relatability and empathy. Women watching these shows find these characters (even in their exaggerated avatars) relatable and identify with their sufferings. They find an outlet, an expression to their own problems. However, that is the extent to which these serials help. They do not have any aspirational value, i.e., they do not show any way out of the entrapment of patriarchy. Moreover, they do not represent women who do not fall in these stereotypes.

Questions:

- a) Why did the TV serials of the early 2000s succeed so much?
- b) What is the meaning of:
  - i) drastic
  - ii) aspirational
- c) Give a suitable title to the passage.

Q.6 Write a précis of the given passage and give a suitable title to it:

[05]

One major problem that faces the world today is the rapid growth of population, often referred to as population explosion. Until about 800 AD the world's population stayed below 200 million. Since then it has risen dramatically. The rise has been greatest in the 20th century. The population has recently risen to about six billion: It is three times as large as it was in 1960. It is not the actual population, but its rate of increase that is alarming. Experts predict that this will cause serious problems of hunger, overcrowding and environmental pollution in the future. With a population of over one billion, India is the second most populous country in the world. (China is the first) India's population has risen drastically since 1950: the population today is 2.5 times as large as it was in 1950. It is rising by 2.9 percent per year, and in consequences, every year an extra 26 million people have to be provided for. The government is taking measures to check the population growth and a large percentage of people practice birth control. Recent advances in farming have made the country productive enough to feed the present population. Failure to arrest further increase of population may have disastrous effects. (206 words)
