Translate the following paragraph in to Hindi or Marathi.

The Parliament serves the interests not of all but those patronized by the ruling party. The two combined themselves to crush the voice of the people and to suffocate the opposition. Democracy becomes a shame for the poor and the under dog. The government loses its ears to listen to the bemoanings of the working women, its eyes to see the cruelty on bonded labour, the plight of the rural poor. It is only law that comes to the rescue of the common man. It is law that comes to the rescue of Shah Bano. The parliament brings to crush her. Democracy builds its mansion on the will of the people-the public opinion. Law stands as a guard to let the journalist raise his voice to form it.
